AVFAB ACQUIRES JOINT AVIATION AUTHORITY (JAA) APPROVAL FOR THE MANUFACTURE AND REPAIR OF INTERIOR COMPONENTS

Clinton, MO – September 23, 2003 – AvFab (Aviation Fabricators) is proud to announce that it has recently achieved Joint Aviation Authority (JAA) Approval for their Certified Repair Station, which specializes in the repair of aircraft interior components.

The approval is significant in that it will allow European customers to return their repaired or manufactured interior components back into service directly from AvFab's facility, saving them time and money. These customers can now install their components and place AvFab's JAA Approval ticket in their logbooks with no additional approval steps to be taken.

"We are extremely happy about the JAA Approval primarily because it will make the repair and return to service process much easier for our customers in Europe," said G.R. Lowe of AvFab. "We wanted to go the extra step to ensure that we do everything we can to provide outstanding service for our customers," he continued.

The applicable aircraft for AvFab's Certified Repair Station services encompass nearly every business piston, turbine, and jet aircraft. AvFab built their repair station business around finding neglected or non-supported lines of interior parts and then developing repair and overhaul processes for those products. Aviation Fabricators is constantly searching for additional ways to make your aircraft a more efficient business tool.

AvFab not only provides inspection, repair and overhaul of corporate aircraft interior components, but they are also an FAA-PMA producer of custom aircraft seating. AvFab's sister company, Central Airmotive, is a comprehensive supplier of Original Equipment Manufacture interior products such as seats, divans, tables, toilets, cabinets and dividers. Central Airmotive currently has over 60,000 sq. ft. of OEM seats and cabin components. Together they represent a "one-source" solution to any corporate aircraft interior need.
